Seen, Heard and Done Among Those Who Go, Come and Tarry—Women and Society Here and Elsewhere

HEALTH IS CONTAGIOUS.

A sunny little woman who never loses her cheerful poise under any sort of pressure, believes strongly in the gospel of mental attitude and the contagion of example. She is a pillar of strength to all who come in contact with her and, explaining her present attitude, she said:

"We laugh with those who laugh. We weep with those who weep. And, we yawn with those who yawn. Let's not have the fever because someone else has it. Health is more contagious than yellow fever."

MOBILIANS ELSEWHERE.

Mr. Motley Lewis has returned from a delightful visit to Fisher's Island, N. Y., and brings with him the news that among the gay throng of hand some women who are at this place none is more admired than one of the girl city's attractive girls, Miss Corinne Orton, who is enjoying life to the fullest and is kept busy attending the numerous balls and parties which fill her days.

Mrs. Rittenhouse Moore and Miss Amanda Moore also represent Mobile at this delightful resort. They are stopping at Mononotto Inn, and Miss Moore's friends will be delighted to know that her health is much improved from her recent illness.—Mobile Register.

DRESSY BLOUSE FOR THE DEMOISELLE.

The miniature figure of the school girl demands special lines in dress that are not always easy to conform to current styles. The surprise mode, however, is at once both smart and in full accordance with current fashion and adds a grace to both large and small frames alike. A pale pink linen chambray is used for the body of the blouse, and the chemisette and revers are of white linen, embroidered in the English eyelet work that is present. Deep tucks in the shoulder seams make the requisite fullness for the fronts which are crossed over in characteristic style at the waistline. The back is plain, with just a little shirring at the waistline in the centre back to afford a smooth fit. The sleeve is a particularly good mode, full and puffy at the top and with the shapening accomplished in the inner seam. A few tucks above the cuff serve to confine the fullness at the wrist.

Close at Five O'Clock.

Ben D. Beers, the "big manager" of the Big Store, returned from New York Friday evening, after an absence of several weeks, and the very first thing that he decided to do for the benefit of the many employees, is to close the store every afternoon at five o'clock, and the practice was begun yesterday afternoon.

This will enable the clerks to go home early and be off the streets before nightfall, and thereby put them on the safe side of yellow fever possibilities. Mr. Beers is noted for his generosity to his employees, and this has a great deal to do with the success of the Big Store.

Pirating Foley's Honey and Tar. Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. These worthless imitations have similar sounding names. Beware of them. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar is in a yellow package. Ask for it and refuse any substitute. It is the best remedy for coughs and colds. W. A. D'Alemberte, Druggist and Apothecary.

Not Sufficiently Dainty.

Mother—I told you to give your sister half of that apple, and you have eaten it all yourself. Small Son—I offered it to her and she sucked it a little and then pushed it away. "She says you didn't." "Oh, you mean that sister. I thought you meant the baby."

A Story of Li Hung Chang.

In the diary of Sir M. E. Grant Duff is a fine story of Li Hung Chang, whose candor was never quite equalled in this world. He was dining with a Swedish traveler.

"You come from Sweden," said the great man, "don't you?" "Yes," was the reply. "And what kind of country is Sweden?" rejoined the other, where upon he received, as was natural, a glowing description of its charms. "Ah," he said, "that is very nice; very nice indeed. When I next communicate with the emperor of Russia I will tell him to take Sweden."

His Rates.

When a man longs to set his country's wrongs before an audience he puts a high value on his time.

"What would be your price for a talk on Russia?" the chairman of the entertainment committee asked the somber faced foreigner.

"Seventy-five dollars for three-quarters of an hour, $50 for an hour and a quarter, $20 for two hours," said the Russian.
